

Emily Kryger

Dr. Emily Kryger is owner of PharmRecs LLC, a consulting company for post-acute care medication management partnering with pharmacies, nursing facilities, provider practices, and health systems. She founded her independent practice three years after graduating from the University of Pittsburgh School of Pharmacy. Dr. Kryger also works as a clinical pharmacist in the medical education department of UPMC St. Margaret and is a Board-Certified Geriatric Pharmacist.

Dr. Kryger is a fellow of ASCP and has been involved with many ASCP initiatives over the past 10+ years, including ASCP-Pennsylvania chapter President and ongoing board member, Co-Chair of the Medication Safety & Transitions of Care Workgroup, and member of the Government Affairs Committee, Political Action Committee, DEA Taskforce, and Antimicrobial Stewardship & Infection Prevention workgroup. She was a recipient of the ASCP President's Standing Ovation Award in 2018.

Dr. Kryger has been privileged to also serve at Pitt Pharmacy as Rho Chi Academic Honor Society chapter President and Phi Lambda Sigma Pharmacy Leadership Society Mentor Program Chair. Dr. Kryger champions efforts related to vaccine education, medication reconciliation, and women's health, especially breast cancer awareness. Dr. Kryger is humbled to be recognized amongst this year's Women's Spotlight Award finalists.
