

Stephanie Sibicky (Outstanding Student Preceptor)

Stephanie Sibicky is an Associate Clinical Professor and was recently appointed Assistant Dean for Academic Affairs and Assessment at Northeastern University School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences in Boston, MA. She received her Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of Rhode Island and completed a PGY1 residency at the Hospital of Saint Raphael in New Haven, CT. She has worked as a hospital, long-term care, and academic pharmacist and joined the faculty at Northeastern University in 2015. In 2019, she completed her master's degree in education, with a focus on eLearning and Instructional Design. She is a Board Certified Geriatric Pharmacist, Board Certified Pharmacotherapy Specialist, and became a Fellow of the American Society of Consultant Pharmacists in 2020.

Stephanie practices at Brigham and Women's Hospital, where she cares for patients on a general medicine service and precepts pharmacy students and residents there and on an elective academia rotation. Stephanie is dedicated to enhancing pharmacy education in geriatrics and internal medicine, as well as the scholarship of teaching and learning. She advocates for students to get involved and engage in professional pharmacy organizations with a commitment to lifelong learning and continuous professional development.
